An important change (says Kuhloss) has been brought about in the freights by the direct German steam communication with the Far East. In this relation an official communication from Canton is of special interest, bringing forth clearly the change which has taken place in the shipment of cassin leaves, gall nuis, fireworks, preserves, and walking sticks. Formerly these goods were shipped by sailing vessels, they now go by stramer; and the German mail steamers have, in particular, made the shipment lighter by modifications in the rates. The circumstance that the insurance is less on shipments by steamer, and especially by mail steamer, has assisted considerably in obtaining the preference. steamers. Moreover, the rapid passages mad by the German mail steamers have also without doubt largely contributed to the same end."

A New York telegram dated the 29th May Californian paper sava: - The annual meeting the Pacific Mail Steamship Company was held this morning. The old directors were reeleuted. The net earnings for the year were $494,596. The annual report says :- "In consequence of the strict enforcement of the Chinese Restriction Act the revenues on the China Line have follow greatly off. The men are praising Mrs. (thamberlain for her courage, and the wagner blaming her for undertaking to assume to be too. dicinotio. THE CONLITION OF THE POPE. NEW YORK, 7th June. A special dispatch by cable to the New York Times from Rome says: Who will be the next Pope P That is the question all Europe is now considering. There is really no sovereign in the world whose acts are of the international character of those of the Pope, and the death of Leo XIII. to-morrow would create a stir which would attract the attention of Americans more than any event that has occurred within the memory of the present generation. Why? Well, it is more than possible that European jealousies, no less than the present situation of the Vatican, would dictate the election of the American Cardinal, Archbishop Gibbons of Baltimore, to the chair of Peter. The Pope is not very strong, and trustworthy reports state that his wiry frame cannot much longer endure the strain of age and care. Germany is opposed to all things French; France to all things German. Under the concordat France has the privilege of protest against the election of candidates—a privilege but rarely exercised, however-and which the Cardinals are not bound to obey. But under the present oiroumstances, when every force must be utilized in the struggle for the restoration of temporal power, it would be obeyed. Germiny's candidate being rejected, policy would compel the Cardinals to ignora France's claim, for Germany cannot be offended. Tu ning to England, no possible candidate presents himself. Cardinal Howard is afflicted withmental (roubles; the two other English (ardinals are plac d beyond consideration by age, Newman bling eighty eight and Mauning eighty-one. The Italian Cardinals are old men, at least all of them whose lives and labours single them out for consideration. Simsoni, Parocchi, Schiaffino, L'ampolla, San Felico and Vanutteli are the only Italian candidates whose nam a suggest the Papal honour. If the history of each is reviewed it will be found that as aunoics to France or Garmany they have earned mistrust in either country on account of their past official relations, Cardinal San Felice alone excepted. He, too, is regarded as being out of the question. MISCELLANEOUS ITEMS. NEW YORK, 28ta May. In the Bishop inquest this morning, Deputy

Coroner Jenkins tostified to having examined the body of the mind reader and reopened the incisions previously made. He found the body well preserved. In the chest cavity, he found many vital organs, including the brain. All seemed healthy and in appearance presented no cause for death. Portions of the brain and other organs were missing. NEW YORK, 29th May.

The Coroner's jury investigating the causes of the death of Bishop, the mind-reader, this afternoon rendered a verdict that Bishop died while in a state of coma; that while Drs. I win. Fergusor, and Hance acted in good faith in performing the antopsy upon Bishop, yet Dr. Irwin, through over-zeal, acted with some haste in ordering its performance.

PHILADELPHIA, 4th June. A representative of the Mutual Life Insurthe company would loss $420,000 by the deaths Hengages in the Consmangh valley. HAYANA, 1st June.

Victor Machin, a notorious bandit recently captured and sentenced to death, was last night married to his mistress. The caremony was performed in jail. The condemned man was then permitted to receive a visit from his three children. Witnesses who were present at the intorview describe the scene as heartrending. Muchin was executed to-day in the presence of an immense concourse of people. LONDON, 31st May.

It is stated the Princes of Murat will claim indemnity from Italy of 51,000,000 lire for the Beling confiscated estates of King Josehim. It is understood they were offered 30,000,000 lire, but refused the offer. Th Cunard Steamship Company and the Oceanie Steam Navigation Company have secured contracts to carry outward British mails. LONDON, 3rd June. The sugar bounties commissioners have signed a report and referred it to their respective Governments.

DUBLIN 3rd June. In the Parliamentary election to day, in the southeast division of Cork, John Morrough was elected without opposition to fill the vacancy caused by the retirement of John Hooper. LONDON, 10th June. Direction of wind ... B.W.

The sixty-ton centre-board lugger Paradon, which is lestined to race in Am rican waters, was I unched at Eastbourne on Saturday. The Paradox is seventy feet in langth, twenty feet beam and draws nine feet of water. She will carry-twenty-six tons of lead on her keel and will have a spread of 7,000 square feet of canvas. Experts-are enthusiastic over her. Paris, Srd Jame.

The new harbour at Culais was formally declared open by President Carnot today, in the presence of a great throng of people. The buildings blong the wharves and all the vessels in the port were decorated with flags and bunting. Paris, 9th June.

Triboulet, Autorite and Gaulers, newspaper publishers, have been sentenced to imprisonment for terms varying from one wask to one month and to pay a fine of 500 france each. The severity of the sentence was due to the personal appeal of Quesnay de Beau, soe, Procureur General. The man were charged with insulting in their papers the Chief Magistrate.

You go down and take a little stroll; do not mind about me. I will try to done. I had no sleep last night. I am turning all the colours of the rainbow, I was so bruised. And he found comfort in her presence; a soothing feeling crept up his arm from her hands that clasped his and spread over his heart.

He was somewhat ashamed of himself. had not made his expedition among the rocks, and met with his fall in searching for Edelweiss for her, but for Artemisia. Salome had accepted the flower and cherished it, as if he had sought it for her, and he selowed her to remain in this delusion. Was this honourable? Was it in accordance with that strict rectitude on which he plumed himself? Yet he could deeply, and—humble himself too considerably. his hand on the Oberslp, beside the lake, when he extended it to her in pledge that he would do great things for her; and now, in redemption of an hour or two I had spun you round like a his pledge, he had tried to get her a bit of Edel. testotum. weiss, and had tumbled through the snow in his efforts. And what could be do for her? She had not asked for legal advice or for figured table linen, the two things he could furnish her with without offence. It was as well that his hand was burt, it served bim right; he had no right to offer what he was unable to perform How differently he had felt as Artemisia held his hand! Then an intoxicating current had set boiling through his voins, turning his head, maddening him. Now the cool hand of Salome conveyed balm to his aching joints, and what was a better medicine, though a bitter one, self.

reproach to his conscience. Now, also, for the first time since his walk with Miss Durham, some of his old suspicion cosed up through the joints of his thoughts. What was the reason of her laughter? Thrice it had poorred; first she had said something languing. ly about him to Beaple Yeo at table, and provokd that edious creature to an explosion o laughter. Then, on the Oberalp Pass she had laughed for no particular reason that Philip could see, and had made Philip laugh with her. And, leatly, she had laughed mockingly, alone, when he was rescued from the very verge of a dreadful death.

He shut his eyes and lay still. Salome sat by him for an hour, and then, thinking he was asleep, released his hand, kissed him quietly, and stole from the room. Mrs. Sidebottom wanted to take a short walk: it was tedious in the inn. with only a few old an lodd volumes of Tauchnitz novels about : and cold or inactivity was rendering the Labarte girls torpid, and they were clinging about aunt Janet, or dropping upon her. at embarrassing times. Mrs. Sidebottom did it not so P" not feel equal to managing all three unaided, and as Miss Durham declined to accompany her. she insisted on Salome lending her aid. Balome consented. Her husband had wished that she should go out and he was asleep and could be left without anxiety. The girls had been shown at Andermatt beads and seals made of a sparkling stone-which was said to be found on the St Gotthard road, half way down the Val Tremola. and when Mrs. Sidebottom proposed a walk they entreated to be allowed to search for this precious stone, of which they resolved to compose necklaces for themselves, or at least bracelets. It would create quite a sensation at Elbouf: not one of the girls there had seen this beautiful stone-not one probably had heard the name of Tremoline, by which it was called.

There was another reason why Mrs. Sidebottom, on this occasion, particularly desired the companionship of Salome. She was commissioned to break to her the news that Janet and Lambert were engaged, and to use her endeavours him, weighted with lead in his globular nother pice. They did not leave without an altercato overcome any prejudice Salome might enter- parts. It was a wonder that next day Signora Low

NOW ON SALE. BIPERIAL QUARTO. TANGLISH AND CHINES DICTIONARY. WITH THE PUNTI AND MANDARIN

PRONUNCIATION. Au Anglo-Chinese Dictionary, published at Daily Press Office, Hongkong. For comprehensiveness and practical servicethis Work stands unrivalled. All the new words which the Chinese have of late years hoen compelled to coin to express the numerous objects in machinery, photography, telegraphy. and in science generally, which the rapid advance of foreign relations has imposed upon them, are here given in extense. Each and every word is fully illustrated and explained, forming exercises for students of a most instructive nature. Both the Court and Punti pronunciations are given the accents being carefully marked on the best principle hitherto attained. The typography displays the success of an attempt to make the Chinese and English type correspond in the size of body, thereby effecting a vast economy of attained, and dispensing with those vast margins and vacant spaces which have heretofore characterized Chinese publications. To illustrate the vast scope of the work the following facts are submitted for consideration :--Chalmers' Vocabulary contains about 16.0(N) Chinese characters, and Medhurst's English and Chinese Dictionary about 100,000, whilst this work contains more than 50,000 English words, and upwards of 600,000 Chinese characters. Again, despite all the grammars and other elementary works as yet published, the student of this difficult language absolutely requires examples to display the various applications and equivalents of different words which have one general meaning. Of these examples this work contains more than five times as space, pohieving a clearness not previously

many as any other Dictionary hitherto pub-For practical purposes the arrangement of the work is so complete, that a reference to its TIES. Vel. 17. SCOTLAND; IEELAND, pages enables a person who understands English WALES, and European Possessions, Vol 27a to communicate effectively with natives who AMERICA, North, South, Central and understand nothing but Chinese. In this respect the work will be found indispensable to all Europeans residing in China, and to the natives themselves it explains subjects fully with which very few indeed of them are perfectly acquainted. in China it cannot but be invaluable occasion-

> It comprises upwards of two thousand large quarto pages. 4 Vols. IMPERIAL QUARTO, Price, $20. A Large REDUCTION in PRICE is made to Purchasers of SIX or more Copies.
